

water

OUR THIRSTY WORLD

THE ANNENBERG
SPACE FOR PHOTOGRAPHY

March 27th - June 13th

Sacred Waters, John Stanmeyer, VII © National Geographic

The Big Melt, Jonas Bendiksen, Magnum © National Geographic

Parting the Waters, Paolo Pellegrin, Magnum © National Geographic

The Burden of Thirst, Lynn Johnson © National Geographic

California's Pipe Dream, Edward Burtynsky, Freelance

Silent Streams, Joel Sartore © National Geographic

March 27TH - June 13th

the big melt jonas bendiksen

Jonas Bendiksen has received numerous awards, including a National Magazine Award for his story "Kibera," which was featured in the Paris Review. Other distinctions include a Freedom of Expression Foundation fellowship, second place in the Daily Life Stories category for World Press Photo, the 2003 Infinity Award from the International Center of Photography, and first prize in the Pictures of the Year International competition. His coverage on "Dharavi: Mumbai's Shadow City," was featured in the May 2007 issue of National Geographic.

california's pipe dream edward burtynsky

Edward Burtynsky is known as one of the world's most respected photographers. His remarkable photographic depictions of global industrial landscapes are included in the collections of 15 major museums around the world, including the National Gallery of Canada, the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris, the Museum of Modern Art and the Guggenheim Museum in New York. California's Pipe Dream is his first assignment with National Geographic.

the burden of thirst lynn johnson

Lynn Johnson has traveled from Siberia to Zambia with her Leicas. Though she has photographed notables from Tiger Woods to the entire Supreme Court, her favorite assignments are emotionally demanding stories about ordinary people. She has been recognized by the World Press Awards and POYi, among others. Her work for National Geographic has covered everything from zoonotic diseases to female health workers in India.

parting the water paolo pellegrin

Paolo Pellegrin has won many awards, including eight World Press Photo awards and numerous Photographer of the Year awards, a Leica Medal of Excellence, an Olivier Rebbot Award, the Hansel-Meith Preis, and the Robert Capa Gold Medal Award. In 2006, he was assigned the W. Eugene Smith Grant in Humanistic Photography. He lives in New York and Rome.

silent streams joel sartore

A lifelong Nebraskan, Joel Sartore is a frequent contributor to National Geographic. He is co-founder of the Grassland Foundation, and a founding member of the International League of Conservation Photographers. He is the recipient of numerous awards, including POYi. His recent work for National Geographic includes stories on endangered species and amphibian loss.

sacred waters john stanmeyer

John Stanmeyer works regularly on assignment with National Geographic. He has been the recipient of numerous honors, including the Robert Capa Magazine Photographer of the Year, as well as World Press and Picture of the Year awards. His recent work for the magazine includes stories about food security and malaria.